

I am opposed to this petition as it stands. Free upgrades and further degradation of the requirements to obtain an amateur radio license are not needed, and would only have a negative effect on the service. Proper testing of a minimum morse test should be retained, and more extensive technical and operational requirements should be met.